Section 2: Making the Most of Our Resources

Utilising our Resources for Candidates

Our Candidate's Resources Page has been developed by disabled people with experience in the recruitment and employment sector. It's full of helpful advice and tips on everything from CV's and covering letters to interview tips.

Get Exclusive Insights from our Blog and Newsletter

We have plenty of great content and resources on our blog and our YouTube channel. You can also sign-up to our Candidate's Newsletter for more detailed insights around disability and employment and as well as any useful employment resources we've found on our travels around the web.

Use Our FAQ's to Answer Your Questions

Evenbreak's Candidate FAQs page provides users with the answers they need to some of our most asked questions it also acts as a central hub to guide users through our website's content and resources.

Section 3: Getting Extra Support

Working with our Partners for More Support

If you require more support on a regular or 1-2-1 bases, then we also have a list of organisations who may be able to offer the help you need. We are also currently working to develop a wider partnership program as well.

Information on Accessibility and Adjustment Needs

Evenbreak has a range of resources including articles on Supporting Disabled Candidates, Inclusion, Accessibility and Workplace Adjustment, most of which can be found through our blog or on our Resources for Candidates page.

One of the great organisations we've partnered up is Diversity and Ability \(D&A\). D&A is a disabled-led social enterprise that works with individuals to overcome specific challenges in the workplace. They can also support you with assistive technology training, workplace strategy coaching and mental health mentoring to help you develop your skills, build effective strategies, and benefit from the fantastic technology that's available.
